

Al Hassan Group supports Omani Students Society

MUSCAT: In line with its commitment to support initiatives that have a positive impact on the community and environment, the Al Hassan Group recently announced its support to Omani Students Society of Victoria (OSSV). Australia is a popular destination for Omani students pursuing higher studies as there are over 400 Omani students studying in different universities all over Australia. Omani students in Australia are encouraged to engage actively both in Australian and Omani community activities therefore during the universities summer break, OSSV organises series of events in Oman that further the cause of the Omani society and environment, which Al Hassan wholeheartedly supports. The first among the series was a beach cleaning awareness campaign titled 'Save Our Shores' that was held recently in Muntazah Al Azaiba. Over 200 participants, from all age groups, joined the students in their efforts to clean the beach and spread awareness on the importance of environmental conservation and take responsibility for the cleanliness of our beaches. Cigarettes, food wrappers, skewers, cans, etc. litter Oman's naturally beautiful beaches affecting the marine life and causing an unpleasant sight, therefore this event was organised to promote the conservation of the beaches which are a natural habitat of our marine life as well as a source of recreation and pride for the citizens.
